LEWIS SENTENCED TO THREE YEARS BY FEDERAL COURT

Convicted of Newark Post Office Robbery of September 11

With four previous escapes to his record, Edgar R. "Whitey" Lewis, 33, convicted of robbing the Newark post office last year, was sentenced Saturday to three years in jail by Federal Judge Harold Louderback. Judge Louderback remarked that the sentence will stick.

Postal Inspector W. P. Mouser said Lewis had escaped serving time on previous sentences totaling eight years. The inspector remarked that the man was first sentenced to McNeil Island penitentiary for robbing a post office at Warren, Arizona, on November 16, 1932, but escaped from officers at Lathrop, California. Later, records show he was arrested in Milwaukee, but again fled. He was captured again at Harlowtown, Montana August 26, 1933, escaped again and then fled from a hospital where he had been placed after an injury.

Lewis was last arrested at La Vaca, Texas, allegedly while blowing a safe. Lewis is said to have several aliases.

Lewis was sentenced on the charge of robbing the post office at Newark last September 11. The Newark establishment was broken into and stamps and cash amounting to $230 taken.

TWINS GET MEDALS FOR HEROISM AT WARM SPRINGS

Two Warm Springs boys, twin brothers nine years of age, yesterday received medals for one of life's greatest acts—saving lives. The brothers, Joe and Felicaino Calvan, rescued their baby brother and two dogs from a blazing barn near their Warm Springs place recently.

For the heroism which they displayed in thus risking their lives, the boys were awarded medals by the Latham Foundaton for the promotion of humane education. The medals were presented yesterday by Superintendent of Schools David E. Martin. The ceremony began at 2:30 p. m. It was in the nature of a "Be Kind to Animals" aniversary.

Principal Leslie H. Maffey, of the Warm Springs Grammar school stated his pride in having the small heroes under his guidance.

Creek Flow Is Stopped As Water Release Ends

Well levels in Washington township will begin a fall slowly with in the next week, when irrigation activities begin to draw on the now static water table. After a release of one billion gallons this spring, the gates of the Calaveras dam were closed Monday evening.

Spread over a period of twenty days, the release this year brought the ground water to a higher point than any during the last four years.

VISITORS, BOTANISTS, ACCLAIM WILDFLOWER DISPLAY AS BEST YET

Show Open Extra Day As Multitudes View Annual Spectacle

More cilorful than ever before and arranged with taste born of experience, the Sixth Annual Niles Wild Flower Show came to an official end Tuesday evening, after more than 2000 visitors had enjoyed the display. The show was extended one day to give time for visits by school classes.

Set out on decorated tables forming an open square, the 247 specimens this year kept their freshness remarkably well. The preservation was attributed to careful handling throughout. Much to the surprise of various skeptical vistiors, Mrs. J. E. Townsend, display attendant, explained that all of the species shown were gathered within a radius of ten miles of Niles. Several critics took to the field themselves to verify this.

Particularly arresting in the display this year was an exhibit of noxious weeds. According to W. B. Kirk, it is through such displays that the farmer may become acquainted with weed pests, and be able to recognize them in his fields. Other displays that drew the attention of the visitors were the fern display and an arrangement of mosses and lichens. The latter was particularly well done.

Once again the register of visitors proved the wide renown of the Niles annual show. Forty-five ctiies were named, among them: Mt. Washington, Pennsylvania; Pomona, Visalia, Chicago, New York, Brookledge, San Francisco, and all bay cities.

Among distinguished visitors were Mrs. Fremont Older and the Princess Margaret Ghieke, of San Francsico. Botanists from a number of coast schools and universities attended.

JOSEPH RODERICK, PIONEER, ANSWERS SUMMONS FRIDAY

Former Constable Lived In Niles For Forty Two Years

Washington township lost one of its most colorful old-time residents Friday afternoon, when Joseph Roderick, 65, passed away at his Niles home after a few hours' illness. Roderick had been in failing health for several months.

Born in Forbestown, Butte county, in 1869, Roderick passed his early life in and about the mining towns of the Sierra region, where his father, Manuel Roderickf was operator of a string of pack mules hauling gold to Oroville. Lured into the lowlands when the boom failed, Joe Roderick came to Newark, where he lived for several years. In 1890, he was wed to Emily Santos, daughter of John Santos. Shortly after, the couple moved to Niles where Roderick opened the first barber shop in the town. A number of the local barbers learned their trade from him before the "barber college" days. Running for constable of Washington township in 1895, Roderick was elected and continued to serve until 1913, when he relinquished his post to Frank Rose.

While in office Roderick was noted for his conscientious work in the face of far more trying times than the present ones. He had three Indian camps under his jurisdiction, and was called upon many times to maintain the peace when the Western Pacific tunnel builders, four hundred strong, decided to paint the town.

Roderick is survived by a daughter, Mrs. George Burr, and two sons, Arthur and Alfred, all of Niles. His wife preceded him in death ten years ago. He was a member of Amor do Proximo, U. P. E. C. No. 10, of Mission San Jose.

Funeral was Monday morning at 9:00 from the Chapel of Palms, Centerville. High mass was said at the Corpus Christi church, Niles, at 9:30, Rev. Father O'Connor officiating. Interment was in the Holy Ghost cemetery at Centerville.

Mrs. Williamson, accompanied by Mrs. J. J. Greer and children, will make the return trip to Niles this week-end. Mrs. Greer will spend several weeks here.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Horn, of Burlingame were visitors in Niles Sunday.

J. R. Rankin, engineer of the San Francisco Water department, was a business visitor in Niles Wednesday.

EARLY CHERRIES BEAR WATCHING

ALTHOUGH publicity of such early fruitfulness may cipitate a scourge of tree-climbing urchins upon the unsuspecting orchardist, J. C. Shinn, Jr., Niles rancher, is this week making preparation to harvest what is believed to be some of the earliest cherries ever raised in Washington township.

Shinn's trees, of the Hamilton variety, blossomed exceedingly early, and the fruit, although not yet thoroughly ripe, is quite edible. Shinn plans to get his fruit on the market at the earliest possible date. To insure the safety of the succulent globes until harvest time, a watchman is patrolling the orchard.

The first cherries in the state to be placed on the the market this year were shipped from Vacaville, on March 26.

SALE OF SPACE AT TOWNSHIP FAIR IS PROGRESSING FAST

Exhibitors Eager To Begin Preparation Of Displays

Meeting with an excellent response, committeemen working on the signup of exhibitors for the Township Fair, slated for the last days in June, report that there is little doubt that all the space available will be disposed of long before time for arangements arrives.

With a number of the local industries already on the roster, Chick Santos accompanied by several assistants, spent Tuesday in San Francisco interviewing managers of the city offices of various local concerns. He reported favorable facts on his return. Following the drive to secure the large firms, the committee will emphasize the local angle, according to Allen G. Norris, publicity committeeman.

Harold De Leon, executive secretary of the fair, released the following committees for publication this week. The committees were appointed recently by Chick Santos, as head of the executive committee:

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR PARTY IS SLATED FOR APRIL 20

Friday night, Apr. 20, the young people will hold their second party in the Congregational church playroom. It is to be an old fashoined "hard-time" affair, each participant to wear his or her oldest and most nearly worn out clothes. Refreshments will be served. Every interested young person in the community is urged to attend. The social is under the management of the new social chairman, Vernon Ellsworth.

Tht subject for the Sunday morning service, "How Shall We Think About the Christ?" brings us face to face with Christian truth and experience. The pastor traces the historical trends of past ages and interprets our modern attitude in the light of the historical continuity. This is a living question, "What of Christ?"

Russell M. Ross will sing an inspiring hymn, "Rock of Ages," accompanied by Miss Estelle Martenstein.

Miss E. Marie Sandholdt To Head Program For School Week

A musical entertainment, and a talk that is certain to be vividly interesting, will be the fare for the Niles Chamber of Commerce next Monday, when the program will be outlined by Principal A. J. Rathbone of the Washington Union High school. For several years past it has been the custom for the high school to entertain the civic group during School Week.

According to Rathbone, the program will center around a talk by Miss E. Marie Sandholdt, who, from her years of experience as an instructor and dean, will discuss the "Human Side of Schools." Miss Sandholdt, before whom all social problems in the school are laid, is eminently fitted to tell of the "Human Side." A musical program will be arranged, Rathbone said. The meet will be held at the Florence Restaurant in Niles, rather than at the high school, as it has been in the past.

At the meeting last Monday, over which A. J. Petsche presided in the absence of President F. V. Jones, the civic group voted to pay a number of bills incurred in preparation of the wildflower show.

Those who had a hand in the planning and arrangement of the display were voted thanks by the group. J. E. Townsend, committee head, and Mrs. Townsend were praised by the group for their indispensable work in connection with the show. Others thanked were Ed. Rose, for the use of the display room where the display was held; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dougherty for their assistance in arranging the flowers; the Shucki Cannery for materials used; the Odd Fellows' Hall Association for chairs loaned; the Campfire Girls for their assistance; Boy Scouts for their work on Sunday; E. E. Dias for his trucking and carpentering; the newspapers, local and metropolitan, for their publicity, and all those who assisted in any way to make the show a success.

New members attending the Monday meet were: Clarence Crane, and Charles Hiser, who has returned after several years on the outside. Both were called upon to say a few words. Others who spoke briefly were: H. L. Scott, J. A. Silva, W. B. Kirk, A. J. Rathbone, Ralph Richmond, nd Harold F. Grey. The latter was a guest accompanied by Roland Bendel, of Decoto.

Alleged Rustler Must Face Martinez Trial

Walter P. Lawyer, alleged and much-tried cattle rustler, appeared for preliminary hearing before Justice Moore at Pittsburg last week on charges brought by cattlemen of Contra Costa county. Evidence at the hearing was found sufficient to cause Lawyer to be held to answer before the Superior court at Martinez.

If Lawyer is acquitted in Martinez, as he was in Stockton recently, he will be taken into custody by Santa Clara county officials to answer for alleged thefts there.

SCHOOL CLOSED AGAIN

Reopening Monday morning, the Niles grammar school was immediately closed when it was noted that the attendance was still far below normal. The school will remain closed all this week.

The school was closed last week when seventy cases of mumps ond chicken pox almost emptied the class rooms.

Snow as Soil Thief

"Snowdrift erosion" is the latest soil thief discovered by the Department of Agriculture. Occurring principally in the Northwest the erosion is reported to have lowered wheat yields in that section. For a wheat crop, say government experts, it is the common practice to furrow the land in the fall and crop it in the next spring. The trouble comes because the snowdrifts form on leeward slopes in winter, and at the spring melting carry away the loose, recently plowed soil. The phenomena is worst on northern slopes, because the drifts are deepest there and the soil is not frozen when snow on top melts away.—Montreal Herald.

Measuring Hay Stack

A method given by one authority is to divide the cubical contents of the mow by about 500 if the hay is not well settled, or by 450 to 460 if it is well packed. A formula for measuring the cubical contents, recently devised by the agricultural extension service of the University of Nevada, is as follows: Multiply the height of the stack from the ground, over the top and down the other side, by .04. Multiply the circumference of the stack by .012. Subtract this second result from the first one and multiply the result thus obtained by the circumference squared, which gives the number of cubic feet in the stack.

Goiter in Calves

Tendency to goiter is hereditary. In new-born calves it indicates a lack of iodine in the system. Incomplete feeding of the pregnant cow helps to induce the condition. It may be prevented by giving the cow iodized salt instead of common salt throughout pregnancy and feeding alfalfa or clover, ground grains, bran, and linseed oilmeal in addition to silage or roots. If iodized salt is not available, give the cow two grains of potassium iodide daily in water during the latter half of her pregnancy.—Successful Farming.

RUINS OF 5 CITIES FOUND ON ONE SITE

Leveled by Invaders and Restored Each Time.

Philadelphia.—Buried beneath the placid wheat fields of Palestine lie the remains of a great city which was leveled by invaders at least four or five times and restored to its former grandeur after each invasion.

It was the city of Beth Shemesh in Ain Shems. Situated on important trade routes between Egypt, Palestine and Syria, the city flourished between 1800 and 600 B. C. Five archeological expeditions from Haverford college have delved into the ruins 20 feet below the waving wheat. A sixth expedition is being arranged for next year.

Findings of the fifth expedition now are being collected under the direction of Prof. Elihu Grant, director of the department of biblical literature at Haverford.

The mounds, which have yielded startling historic material, are located 20 miles east of Jerusalem, overlooking the Mediterranean.

The first expedition unearthed three Bronze age cemeteries. Successive excavations have disclosed four successive levels, representing distinct epochs in the city's history.

When the city was first pillaged and burned by invaders, walls and roof beams were leveled to the floors and the new builders erected another city on the ruins of the old. This process was repeated, the findings show, until at least four or five cities were destroyed and rebuilt on the same site.

Evidence of the prosperity of the ancient city is seen in the remains of temples, palaces, dwellings, shops, and industrial properties. Vases, flasks, bowls, tools, weapons, and jewelry indicate the personal wealth of the inhabitants who dwelt there 3,000 years ago.

As a result of the findings a Palestine museum has been formed at Haverford college. It contains an abundance of valuable material and Doctor Grant has published several reports of his discoveries.

PLAN MEMORIAL ON MISSISSIPPI RIVER

St. Louis to Honor Pioneers and Empire Builders.

St. Louis, Mo.—Plans for a national memorial beside the Mississippi river, as a tribute to the lives and deeds of pioneers and empire builders of the Mississippi valley and in commemoration of the Louisiana purchase, are being made by a group of St. Louisans, and congress will be requested to act on the proposal at its present session.

Stately colonnades and majestic buildings containing statues and sculptural groups would be erected in a large site in downtown St. Louis overlooking the Mississippi, and a parkway almost a mile long would extend along the river front, under tentative plans for the memorial.

The vast project probably would cost between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000. Bills are being forwarded to Washington for introduction in congress for authorization of the memorial. Federal aid will be sought.

Thomas Jefferson, the outstanding figure in the Louisiana purchase, would occupy the commanding place in the proposed memorial. Under tentative plans, the principal memorial building would stand near the river's edge just south of the Eads bridge and command a sweeping view up and down the river. Farther back from the shore there would be two colonades, each about a block long, standing parallel to each other and containing statues and sculptural groups of pioneers and empire builders who figured in the development of the Mississippi valley domain.

The memorial plaza, for a width of one block, would extend to the historic old courthouse, four blocks from the river front, where the famous Dred Scott decision was issued in 1848.

Razing of scores of buildings now standing along the river front would be necessary to make way for the memorial.

Mayor Bernard Dickmann, one of the principal sponsors of the memorial plan, said it was hoped that in about ten years St. Louis could hold a world's fair on the river front in a setting of permanent memorial buildings and sculpture. Luther Ely Smith, chairman of a committee appointed to promote the plan, described the place selected for the memorial as "the most significant historical spot in the United States." It was from here that the Lewis and Clark expedition took off in its explorations of the northwest territory.

Holidays Just Birthdays to Members of Family

Carmichael, Pa.—Celebrations are in order for almost everyone in the nation every time there's a birthday in the Voytek family here.

On Christmas day, some years ago, the stork, working hand-in-hand with Santa Claus, presented Mrs. Voytek with a baby girl, Marjorie, who was eighteen years old last Yuletide.

Her mother's birthday, on January 6, is known as Three Kings day. St. Valentine's day—February 14—is celebrated by her father, Matt, as his birthday. One of his brothers is not punished for his mischievous pranks on April Fool's day, because, after all, that's his birthday. The tramp of marching feet on Memorial day means another in the life of a second brother, who was born on that day.

Armistice day is celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Voytek as their wedding anniversary, although when they chose November 11 as their wedding day, that date had not yet, of course, been designated as a national holiday.

Wise Hen Eats Bugs on Auto Radiator

Holland, Texas.—A hen that wearied of barnyard fare has added a distinctly new service to the garage-filling station operated here by Virgin Huddleston..

Tourists driving in for gas and oil usually carry a delicious supply of bugs and grasshoppers on the radiators of their automobiles. The hen hops on the bumper and pecks out the insects, dropping them to the ground. She then inspects the machine from stem to stern for other dainty bits.

When the car drives away, the hen enjoys a real meal. She roosts atop the town hearse, and nests beneath a blacksmith's anvil.

Old Man Burdett's Daughter

By LUCY FOX

©. by McClure Newspaper Syndicate WNU Service

IT WAS an unwritten law in the Burdett family that male college students were not to be considered as possible husbands—at least in Luke college where Doctor Burdett had held office as president for twenty years. The four oldest daughters of the Burdett family had observed this rule and had secured their husbands outside the Luke college limits. Only Jane Burdett remained at home unmarried.

Jane had for some time ignored all the college students. She figured that if they weren't eligible for her to marry, there was no good reason why she should waste time getting to know them. Of course she couldn't avoid seeing them at college functions. And she was forced to meet and talk with some of them at the informal receptions which took place regularly as a matter of form at the president's home once or twice each month.

Naturally Jane's tact pleased Old Man Burdett, as the president, Jane's father, was commonly known around the campus.

Jane in spite of her rather secluded life on the Luke campus liked to be with men.

It was when she was having a day dream of that variety one fall evening that she heard a lot of noise and commotion outside the house. There were male voices—students' voices she knew. In the window she could see the reflection of red torches of some sort. Then she could make out what the gang was yelling. It was:

"Down with Old Man Burdett, down with Prexy Burdett. We're here to kick him out!"

Jane didn't know what to do. What made the situation so complex for her was that her father was out of town giving a lecture in Boston.

Suddenly she went downstairs, turned the porch lights on and then went outside to see what could be done to quiet the howling mob. Facing her were about fifty or sixty young men. When they saw what a good-looking girl was before them, they ceased their clamor to see what the Old Man's daughter had to say for herself.

"My father is out of town," she told them. "I don't know what you want or what all the excitement means, but I'm glad my father isn't here to feel—the humiliation that you have made me feel."

There was a continued silence from the crowd. Then Benny Havlland, a good-looking, red-headed fellow, captain of the football team, jumped up on the top step of the veranda.

"Fellows, I think we've gone a little too far," he said. He was supported by cheers from the throng. "I think it's up to us to apologize to Miss Burdett and then clear out. We can put our case before Prexy when he gets back and in a more orderly fashion. Am I right?"

The loud chorus of male voices seemed unanimous in sanctioning his suggestions. Almost immediately the crowd began to disperse and inside of ten minutes Jane and Benny were left on the porch looking at each other. Benny was explaining the situation the best he could. He found it easy, yet quite difficult, to keep his thoughts on the subject when he looked at Jane. The trouble was President Burdett had expelled four of the best athletes in the college on some lame excuse. In a mass meeting the students had appealed to the president to reinstate the four expelled men. Doctor Burdett had ignored their appeal except that he barred some of the outstanding men who had signed a petition from participating in any form of outside activities whatever for the duration of the first semester. This had created a furore.

Jane had known none of the details but she realized now that perhaps they were the cause for her father's sudden departure for Boston where most of the members of the board of trustees of Luke resided.

Jane thanked Benny for his apology and said that she would exert any influence possible to try and get things straightened out. So when her father returned the next day, before requesting him to reinstate the expelled men, she waited until she heard what he had been doing in Boston.

Eventually he talked outright to his daughter and told her what had happened and why he had deemed it wise to go to Boston so suddenly. He had seen the chairman of the trustees and a couple of members of the board. They had advised him to reinstate the fellows and to reverse his harsh decision for the petitioners. Jane held her peace and didn't mention the mass meeting of the previous night.

But anyway the first meeting of Jane and Benny had been an event of importance. It started a romance that Old Man Burdett was ignorant of so he couldn't nip it in the bud. When spring rolled around and Benny graduated, Jane had to confess to her father that she was engaged. Pat Doctor Burdett, annoyed as he may have been, had no protest to make even though Benny was a Luke graduate.

Turning from city newspapers to small town press exchanges that come to the editor's desk is like stepping from the slums, full of vice, into an old-fashioned garden sweet with lavender and thyme and the scent of perennial flowers. The pages of big dailies are so full of murder, thievery, immorality and selfishness that the better news is obscured by these glaring shatterings of the Decalogue. One puts the papers aside with a feeling of depression and heartache that the world is so full of terrible and unhappy things.

Then picking up the papers that record the happenings of the little towns around us, one gains renewed faith in life. Here are set forth only that which uplifts a community—the activities of the business men, the church items, the happy social gatherings of the people, the marriages, births and deaths, farmers' items, and all the thousand and one daily occurances that make up the simple annals of the great common people, who are really the foundation of this broad country of ours.

Sometimes people speak lightly of the country newspaper, but it is one of the most potent and uplifting factors in our national existence.—Christian Science Monitor.

Parking Space for Peas

PROVIDE plenty of parking space for peas, when you are giving your pantry shelves their spring house-cleaning. You use them more often than you probably realize, because they are the answer to that great question —"And what else?"

Lamb chops for dinner, yes that sounds good—and what else? Stuffed steaks for the late-supper party—and what else? Well, peas, of course, because everyone likes them, and they—good fellows that they are—like everyone. They are good mixers. Here are some recipes to park in your cook book:

How They Please

Southern Peas and Onions: Split onions from one bunch of young onions in lengthwise pieces, add one slice bacon and one-half of a No. 2 can of peas; then add three-fourths cup boiling water and boil until the onions are tender. Add more water if necessary. Remove bacon, season to taste and serve. The liquid should be cooked almost away. This serves four persons.

Corn and Pea Rarebit on Toast: Make a cheese sauce of two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one and one-half cups milk and one cup grated cheese. Drain one 8-ounce can of whole kernel corn and one 11-ounce can of peas. Sauté a few minutes in two tablespoons butter, then add to the cheese sauce. Season to taste and serve on toast. This serves six.

WILL ROGERS AS "DAVID HARUM" IN PICTURE ROLE

Beginning tonight at the Hayward theater is the screen version of that popular stage musical comedy, "The Cat and the Fiddle." Ramon Novarro and Jeanette MacDonald head the bill. On the stage, both in New York and on the west coast, this play broke all records. The picture lends it a new charm.

Will Rogers as the beloved character, "David Harum" plays the lead in a picture of that name slated for the Hayward screen Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. On the same bill is Edmund Lowe and Miriam Jordan in "Let's Fall in Love." The first chapter of "Pirate Treasure" will play at the Sunday matinee only.

A four star picture, "Thunder Over Mexico" comes for a two-day run Wednesday. John Barrymore in "The Long Lost Father," fills out the program.

A.N. ALAMEDA HOME SAVED FROM BLAZE BY FIRE FIGHTERS

Apparently Hopeless Fire Subdued By Local Unit

Quick, decisive action by a well drilled and efficient fire lighting unit rescued the home of Mrs. A. N. Alameda from what appeared to be certain destruction Tuesday afternoon at 3:30, when a small garage in the Alameda back yard burst into flame.

Apparently out of contril when the firemen arrived upon the scene, the blaze was quickly drowned under a torrent of water and chemicals applied under the wise direction of Chief Fred Rogers.

The alarm was turned in by Mrs. Josephine Lane, who lives at the Alameda place, after she had noticed the blaze from a rear window. She was unable to explain the origin of the fire. There was no car in the garage at the time the blaze started.

By opening the valve on the high school system, the firemen greatly increased the pressure in the hose. The blaze was under control at once.

Why Liquid Laxatives are Back in Favor

The public is fast returning to the use of liquid laxatives. People have learned that the right dose of a properly prepared liquid laxative will bring a perfect movement without any discomfort at the time, or after.

The dose of a liquid laxative can be varied to suit the needs of the individual. The action can thus be regulated. A child is easily given the right dose. And mild liquid laxatives do not irritate the kidneys.

Doctors are generally agreed that senna is a natural laxative. It does not drain the system like the cathartics that leave you so thirsty. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a liquid laxative which relies on senna for its laxative action. It gently helps the average person's bowels back to regularity.

You can always get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store, ready for use. Member N. R. A.

YOUR BLOW-OUT.. TOMORROW?

PLAY SAFE WITH GOLDEN PLY TIRES!

Let us put this life-saving tire on your car . . . amazing invention prevents great cause of blow-outs

EVERY YEAR thousands are killed or injured when blow-outs throw cars out of control. Today, unless you are protected, the danger from blow-outs is greater than ever before. High-powered motors, whirlwind revolutions of smaller modern wheels, cause terrific heat inside the tires. Rubber and fabric tend to separate. A tiny heat-blister forms, grows . . . bigger . . . BIGGER . . . until BANG! A blow-out. You can't steer. You can't stop. Only luck decides where you land.

Don't let your life depend on luck. An amazing new invention now gives you blow-out protection. The Life-Saver Golden Ply, found only in the new Goodrich Silvertown, resists internal heat. Binds tire carcass and tread virtually into a single unit, inseparable even under tests far more punishing than ordinary driving conditions. Thus, heat-blisters don't form. Blow-outs are prevented by overcoming their great, unseen cause.

TIRES LAST MONTHS LONGER

With destructive internal heat controlled, tire mileage jumps. Racing daredevils tested the Golden Ply at breakneck speeds. Gave it everything they had. Not one blow-out. Similar tires without this feature failed at one-third the distance the Golden Ply Silvertowns were run. And what's more the Golden Ply Silvertowns kept right on eating up the miles.

NO EXTRA COST TO YOU

The new Goodrich Safety Silvertown with the Life-Saver Golden Ply costs no more than other standard tires! Come in and let us show you how little it costs to put this protection on your car, before you have a dangerous blow-out.

PRICED AS LOW AS $7.85

Amador Fros-Soph Team Defeat Hayward Group

Scoring the winning run in the seventh inning the Amador Freshmen-Sophomore team defeated the Hayward Freshmen - Sophomore team in a game played recently at the Amador field by a score of eight to seven.

The Dons were handicapped, not having a pitcher. Paulo pitched the first two innings and allowed six hits and six runs. Paulo won the ball game in the seventh inning when he got up with a man on second and made a long hit to score the winning run.

4-H Boys Group Go On Interesting Inspection Tour

Members of the 4-H Go Getters Club, accompanied by Mrs. H. Dickenson and their leader, Mrs. A. B. Casterson, spent an interesting day in Hayward and Castro Valley visiting hatcheries, rabbitries, the Silver King pigeon farm, and a nursery.

Their first stop was at the California Hatchery in Castro Valley. Mr. Perry showed the group all through the plant. Here they saw all processes of hatching from placing the eggs on the automatic trays in the electric incubator, through the incubation period, the packing room and the display room. In this hatchery all the eggs are from blood tested chickens, which guarantees to buyers that the chickens are free from pullorum diseases.

Next the boys stopped at the W. S. Freeman white leghorn ranch. On this ranch the highest type of white leghorn chicken is bred.

At noon the boys enjoyed a picnic lunch on the bank of a creek near the Hayward high school grounds.

After lunch they motored to the King's pigeon loft. Here they saw thousands of Silver King and White King pigeons. They were also taken through this farm. They were also shown where the pigeons were killed and prepared for market.

The next stop was at Mrs. L. M. Turner's rabbitry, near Mt. Eden. New feeding methods were learned and treatments of some of the diseases common to rabbits were discussed. They were also given a demonstration in dressing a rabbit and stretching a skin.

On their way home the group stopped at the California Nursery at Niles. They viewed the nursery and also the old adobe building. It is 152 years old.

NILES WINS LEAGUE STARTER 5 TO 3 SUNDAY

Apparently determined to start the league play right, the Niles C of C's defeated the Alvarado Merchants Sunday by a score of 5 to 3 after trailing 3 to 2 for eight innings. The winning runs were scored in the eighth frame with a series of bunts.

Ray Duarte, submarine ball hurler for the Niles aggregation, in addition to holding his enemies to seven hits, sewed up the game with his superb hitting. In three trips to bat he poled out a homer and a double. He struck out ten men.

Added to the Niles nine this week was Joe "Red" Blacow, former Niles business man, and hustling third sacker. Red's fire had much to do with the Niles victory.

Next Sunday, April 22, the C of C's play the Dugout team here.
